

L. P. Fisher, newspapers advertising agents, 21 Merchants' Exchange, San Francisco, is our authorized agent. This paper is kept on file in his office.

EDITORIALS.

Our esteemed contemporaries are just now indulging in a wordy war regarding the respective merits and authorship of the editorials appearing from day to day in their columns.

In our opinion the public cares very little for what appears on the editorial page of a newspaper, preferring the news columns of the paper for perusal.

As a matter of fact a large amount of editorial hogwash has appeared from time to time in all the papers, and realizing this fact, the writer has concluded that he might just as well allow his youthful intellect to "blush unseen" especially when he can draw upon the literary storage reservoirs of such able minds as C. C. Goodwin of the Salt Lake Tribune, George Nixon of the Silver State and Mr. Kelley of the Reno Journal.

We have concluded that it is simply a great show of temerity on our part to advance our thoughts and ideas as being eminently correct and above all others, as the theories advanced, naturally enough, must be narrowed by the author's constant association with people whose minds are perhaps no broader than his own.

A good deal of the editorial matter appearing in country newspapers is the veriest rot, and in a measure it is prompted by a desire on the part of young writers "hear themselves talk," though some of them no doubt believe that it is a duty they owe to the public and to the profession.

We are willing to slight our editorial column for our news columns any time, and feel assured that the public will appreciate and uphold our action.

The Capacity of the Mint.

An item is going the rounds of the press that Superintendent Hofer of the Carson Mint has received a letter from the Treasury Department asking him what the capacity of the mint is, and that a man was immediately set to work figuring on the matter. The Carson Mint has been in existence many years and the department knows its every transaction; it knows its "fullest capacity" and everything in connection with it now, and has from the day it was completed.—Gazette.

While the Gazette may be right on this proposition, the APPEAL's information came very directly, and we are disposed to regard it as authentic.

The Call says that fifty Boston bankers have brought their guns to bear on President Cleveland. They demand now that he veto the seigniorage bill. All sorts of calamities are predicted if he allows it to become a law. In fact it is said that the coinage of $55,000,000 of silver bullion will ruin the banking business. Of course these bankers know that it will not. They know that it would check the appreciation of gold somewhat and in that way reduce their profits. But the business of handling other people's money would be ruined. President Cleveland has not been in a more critical position than he now is since his inauguration.

Rev. W. Ratcliffe, the Populist politician who killed S. A. Jackson, a Democratic member of the Mississippi Legislature, and shot two bystanders has been found not guilty of murder by a jury. After he was dismissed his friends embraced him and finally carried him out of the courtroom on their shoulders. The friends of Jackson are very bitter over the verdict and it is believed that there will be more murders.

The Industrial Army is still on its way to Washington making good progress. The Populists have aided them considerably along the route, giving them food and shelter. So far they have been orderly and well behaved, but they have been well treated, and it cannot now be known what they will do if they should be crossed or hampered in any way.

Sunday night in Reno Charley Willard was run over by a team and his skull crushed. He will probably die.
